Updates to the Crown Land Manager Reserves Portal – 15 August 2018

The Crown Land Manager Reserves Portal (Phase 1) is being enhanced. In response to user feedback, the following functional changes are being incorporated:

Portal Tool	Description of change
Filter by LGA	Now a selection from drop-down menu, no longer free-text.
Filter by Council	New Filter option - selection made by drop-down menu.
Query by Lot and DP	New Query option - selection made by entering text
Query by LGA	Now a selection from drop-down menu, no longer free-text.
Query by Council	New Query option - selection made by drop-down menu.
Extract Data by Council	Modification of previous tool - extract by LGA.

When

The changes are expected to be deployed on Wednesday 15 August, commencing around 08:00am.

Duration

It is expected that all going well, the changes will be completed by 10:30am

User Impact

The portal will remain open during the change. The users may experience some minor impact as the changes are taking effect. This impact should be minimal and the portal still operational.

Feedback

Should issues remain in the portal later in the day or following days, Users are requested to report these issues back through the feedback form located on the Crown Lands website or via the 'About' page in the portal.

Plan of management training continues

Council Crown land managers are reminded that OLG and DoI are running training workshops for council staff in various locations across NSW, on the development of Crown reserve plans of management. Six sessions have been delivered so far, with positive feedback from attendees.

Unfortunately the upcoming Coffs Harbour session has now reached capacity. However, places remain for the Wednesday 22 August session in Armidale with registrations closing at cob on Thursday 16 August.

There is still space available in all other sessions (Newcastle, Parramatta, Dubbo and Bathurst). Council officers interested in attending can find the details of the remaining sessions and registration information here:
