NEW AND IMPROVED NSW PET REGISTRY

NEW

The NSW Pet Registry website was launched in July 2016 as part of the Government's commitment to promoting responsible pet ownership and improved animal welfare outcomes.

The Registry www.petregistry.nsw.gov.au allows pet owners to register cats and dogs, update their contact details, report missing pets, transfer ownership and pay lifetime registration fees all from a computer or mobile device.

More than 137,000 people have created an online pet profile since the NSW Pet Registry was launched, with 3.1 million cats and dogs now on the Government's official register.

As part of the Government's ongoing commitment to enhance digital pet registration processes, a new and improved NSW Pet Registry has been launched.

The website has a fresh look, enhanced navigation and a range of great new features.

The new and improved NSW Pet Registry makes it easier to register pets, return lost animals to their owners and improve animal welfare outcomes.

NEW FEATURES

Upload a photo of your pet

Pet owners and breeders can upload a photo of their pet on the Pet Profile page to help identify and return the animal should it get lost.

Lost and found

The NSW Pet Registry will now play a greater role in reuniting lost pets with their owners. Where the microchip number of a lost cat or dog is known, a member of the public can use the Registry to send a secure message to the pet owner with their contact details alerting them that they have found their cat or dog.

Search function

Prospective pet owners can use the Registry to find out important information before buying a cat or dog. Using a microchip, breeder identification or rehoming body number, they can access the animal's breed, age, gender and whether or not it is desexed. In the case of a breeder or rehoming organisation, it brings up the business name and address.

Create/add a litter

Pet breeders can create a litter and add offspring, making it easier for vets and authorised identifiers to update new animal records with microchip numbers.

The improved Registry provides faster and easier pet registration and management services to pet owners, councils, veterinarians and animal welfare organisations.

Further enhancements are planned in the future as part of the Government's ongoing commitment to improving digital pet registration processes and making NSW the best state in which to own a cat or dog.
