Boundaries Commission Update on Demerger Proposals

The Local Government Boundaries Commission has appointed Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu to provide advice on the financial aspects of the proposals to demerge Snowy Valleys Council and Cootamundra Gundagai Regional Council.

“Although the COVID-19 pandemic is currently preventing the Commission from holding public meetings, we are continuing our work in examining the proposals”, Boundaries Commission chairman Bob Sendt said today. “We fully understand the extent of local interest in these proposals and we will schedule public meetings once the Government’s COVID-19 restrictions allow. The Commission has already extended indefinitely the original closing date for written submissions.”

“At least 40 days’ notice will be given of the dates of the public meetings and of the closing date for submissions. The Commission has also published FAQs on its website www.olg.nsw.gov.au/lgbc to inform local communities about the process.”

Mr Sendt explained that financial aspects were only one of the nine factors the Local Government Act requires the Commission to consider in its independent examination of the proposals and its recommendations to the Minister for Local Government. (The factors are attached.)

“Howeever a proper analysis of the financial advantages or disadvantages of any proposed change to council boundaries is key to understanding councils’ ability to provide services to local residents and ratepayers while remaining financially viable.”

The Deloitte advice to the Boundaries Commission will cover –

- the financial viability of the existing councils and the new councils (if a demerger proposal is implemented) in the medium term (2 to 5 years)
- identification and quantification of any savings, efficiencies and/or additional costs resulting from the 2016 mergers
- identification and quantification of any potential savings, efficiencies and/or additional costs for existing and new councils should a proposal be implemented
- identification and quantification of any financial impacts from changes in population and forecast population over the medium term
- identification and analysis of the staffing arrangements including change in staff numbers and total staffing costs over the period 2016-17 to 2019-20
- identification and analysis of the level of backlog in infrastructure maintenance
- identification of whether an existing council has developed a rates harmonisation strategy.
